Recruitment Pack – Project Manager (Social Prescribing)

Thank you for your interest in this role.

London Plus is a young charity that has successfully established itself and built a positive reputation across London. Our work supports London's voluntary and community sector by providing connections to policy-makers, collecting data, developing insights, and running networks.

We have played an important role in the response to Covid and contributed to a growing appreciation of the value and importance of civil society. We have strong links across London's voluntary and community sector, as well as with charitable funders, the GLA, London Councils and specialist groups.

Since October 2020 we have received funding from the National Academy for Social Prescribing (NASP) for our role as London's Regional Development Partner for the Thriving Communities Programme. NASP works with partners in each of the seven NHS Regions across England, to build and deliver their Thriving Communities development programme, to help support local voluntary sector and community groups and link workers.

The Project Manager role is your opportunity to help shape the practice of social prescribing in London by supporting local organisations form strategic partnerships across sectors and learn from each other. There is a growing recognition that social and community activities deliver profound health benefits. This is at the heart of social prescribing. The NHS Long Term Plan and the Mayor of London's Health Inequalities Strategy both recognise the value of social prescribing. The voluntary and community sector is a key partner enabling delivery of these activities, particularly as we think about our recovery from Covid.

You will be joining our small and agile team working on vital issues to help communities across the city. We welcome applications from all sectors; the important thing is that you understand and are passionate about helping civil society in London. If you are ambitious to achieve more and relish a challenge, and are collaborative as well as pragmatic in your approach, we would love to hear from you.

Martin Brookes
